Election/Restrictions

1. This application contains claims directed to the following patentably distinct species of the claimed invention:

I. Species of Claims 23-26, 28, 34-36, and 52-85 referring to a first aspect of the invention disclosed on pages 4-5 of the specification, 4th and 1st paragraphs respectively. In particular, the invention is drawn to establishing communication sessions between a gaming printer and an external device classified in Class 709 Subclass 228.

II. Species of Claims 11, 16-17, and 32-33 referring to a second aspect of the invention disclosed on page 4 of the specification, 2nd and 3rd paragraphs respectively. In particular, the invention is drawn to printer diagnostics and calibration classified in 347/19, 358/504, or 399/9.

III. Species of Claims 9-10 and 29-31 referring to a third aspect of the invention disclosed on page 5 of the specification, 3rd and 4th paragraphs respectively. In particular, the invention is drawn to determining the presence/absence of sub-modules in a gaming printer classified in 399/13.

IV. Species of Claims 27 and 37-43 referring to a fourth aspect of the invention disclosed on page 5 of the specification, 2nd paragraph. In particular, the invention is drawn to preventing communication disruption between a host device and a printer classified in 358/1.14.

V. Species of Claims 44-51 referring to a fifth aspect of the invention disclosed on page 3 of the specification, 2nd paragraph. In particular, the invention is drawn to scanning an image and/or detecting the presence or absence of paper in a feeding path, classified in 358/296 or 358/449.

The species are independent or distinct because claims to the different species recite the mutually exclusive characteristics of such species; i.e., the two species are independent inventions that can function on its own. In addition, these species are not obvious variants of each other based on the current record because they are drawn to distinct functions and operations.

Applicant is required under 35 U.S.C. 121 to elect a single disclosed species for prosecution on the merits to which the claims shall be restricted if no generic claim is finally held to be allowable. Currently, no claim is generic.

There is an examination and search burden for these patentably distinct species due to their mutually exclusive characteristics. The species require a different field of search (e.g., searching different classes/subclasses or electronic resources, or employing different search queries); and/or the prior art applicable to one species would not likely be applicable to another species; and/or the species are likely to raise different non-prior art issues under 35 U.S.C. 101 and/or 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph.

Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include (i) an election of a species to be examined even though the requirement may be traversed (37 CFR 1.143) and (ii) identification of the claims encompassing the elected species, including any claims subsequently added. An argument that a claim is allowable or that all claims are generic is considered nonresponsive unless accompanied by an election.

The election of the species may be made with or without traverse. To preserve a right to petition, the election must be made with traverse. If the reply does not distinctly and specifically point out supposed errors in the election of species requirement, the election shall be treated as an election without traverse. Traversal must be presented at the time of election in order to be considered timely. Failure to timely traverse the requirement will result in the loss of right to petition under 37 CFR 1.144. If claims are added after the election, applicant must indicate which of these claims are readable on the elected species.

Should applicant traverse on the ground that the species are not patentably distinct, applicant should submit evidence or identify such evidence now of record showing the species to be obvious variants or clearly admit on the record that this is the case. In either instance, if the examiner finds one of the species unpatentable over the prior art, the evidence or admission may be used in a rejection under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) of the other species.

Upon the allowance of a generic claim, applicant will be entitled to consideration of claims to additional species which depend from or otherwise require all the limitations of an allowable generic claim as provided by 37 CFR 1.141.

If claims are added after the election, applicant must indicate which of these claims are readable upon the elected invention.

Should applicant traverse on the ground that the inventions are not patentably distinct, applicant should submit evidence or identify such evidence now of record showing the inventions to be obvious variants or clearly admit on the record that this is the case. In either instance, if the examiner finds one of the inventions unpatentable over the prior art, the evidence or admission may be used in a rejection under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) of the other invention.
